Gang Intervention and Prevention Resource

Gang Activity Leads To A Dead End
A Message from
Governor Martin O’Malley

Gang violence, activity and membership have become an unfortunate reality in Maryland – but it doesn’t have to stay that way. Addressing these issues requires collaboration with key partners in the criminal justice community.

That is why in 2008 the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services partnered with the Department of Juvenile Services, Maryland State Police, Baltimore City and Baltimore County Police, bringing together over 70 law enforcement and criminal justice stakeholders from around the State to tackle Maryland’s growing issue of gang violence.

Through this process we collectively identified problem areas in Maryland’s approach to combating gangs and worked with our statewide partners to identify strategic goals and solutions.

One of the many results of this collaboration was this Gang Intervention and Prevention Resource brochure. It is intended to provide communities and families with the information, resources and contacts necessary to identify gang activity and help make a difference.

What is a Gang?

According to Maryland Law, a criminal gang is a group of three or more persons that form to engage in criminal activities for the purpose of monetary gain or to create an atmosphere of fear and whose members have a common identifying sign, symbol or name. Gangs have also been referred to as “crews”, “sets” and “cliques”.

Why do Gangs Form?

There are many reasons why individuals, especially our youth, are interested in joining a gang and why they stay involved in gang activities. Gang involvement often leads to problems in school, stress in relationships or trouble with the law. Here are a few of the reasons they become involved in gang activity:

POWER: in being connected to a group that has a strong identity and that is recognized by others; feeling important; feeling tough.

PRIDE: in being accepted into a “second family”; feelings of entitlement; sense of purpose and accomplishment.

PRESTIGE: in being respected by rank according to status in the gang; promises of money and influence; feeling valuable and important.

PEER PRESSURE: in being bullied by a gang or in being initiated into a gang; protection; excitement surrounding peer activities.

Warning Signs of Possible Gang Activity

“Red flags” for gang activity. Below are a few signs to look for:

• Changes in attitude, behavior, style of dress, friends, taste in music, etc.
• Shows an interest in a gang/admits to being in a gang.
• Has unexplained physical injuries/fighting related bruises.
• Has unexplained cash or goods, such as clothes/jewelry, cell phones.
• Carries a weapon/uses unusual hand signals.
• Displays an unusual desire for secrecy.
• Places gang symbols on school books, clothes, walls, etc.
• Has a gang symbol tattoo.
• Breaks rules, skips school, gets arrested.

How Can I Protect My Child from a Gang?

Parents and guardians are encouraged to familiarize themselves with the local gang symbols and to seek help early by contacting community resources for information/support. There are a couple of basic things you can do every day that may help prevent your child from joining a gang:

• Be a positive role model. Every day!
• Set realistic goals and limits for your children, be consistent and enforce the limits you set.
• Show your children how to set goals, to hold high standards and how to prepare for a positive future.
• Praise your children for doing well and encourage them to do their very best. Celebrate your children’s successes.
• Know your children’s friends and their families. Do things together. Talk regularly.
• Get involved in your children’s education and activities.
• Teach your children how to have good study habits and encourage them to stay in school.
• Talk to your children about positive ways to cope with peer pressure and how to use non-violent ways to resolve conflict.
• Talk to your children about the dangers and consequences of gang involvement.
• Tell your children that you disapprove of gangs and you don’t want to see them hurt or arrested.
• Show your children that you and other parents are working together against gangs by participating in community organizations.

Recognizing the Signs of a Gang

There are numerous gangs throughout the State of Maryland. Some examples of how to recognize signs from the most common gangs are listed below:

Bloods
- Originally from Los Angeles.
- Colors: Red, Black, Brown and Pink.
- Signs: B’s up, C’s down; MOB-Member of Blood; Branded dots; #5; Five pointed star.

Crips
- Originally from Los Angeles.
- Colors: Blue, Gray, Orange and Purple.
- Signs: Six pointed star; C’s up; B’s down; B’s crossed out; Blue beads; Pitchfork up.

MS-13
- Originally from Los Angeles.
- Colors: Blue and White.
- Signs: Blue and black bandanas; #13; Mi Vida Loco; Devil’s hand.

Latin Kings (LK)
- A Chicago based gang.
- Colors: Black and Gold.
- Signs: Three or five pointed crown; Yellow and black bandanas.

Dead Man Incorporated (DMI)
- An adult prison system gang composed of Caucasian males, which got its roots from the Black Guerrilla Family.
- Colors: Black and White.
- Signs: The Grim Reaper; Numbers 4,13,9; Pyramid with the all seeing eye.

Black Guerrilla Family (BGF)
- An adult prison system gang who are beginning to surface and recruit within many local Maryland communities.
- Colors: Black and Silver.
- Signs: Silver Back Gorilla; Numbers 2,7,6; Shot gun; the X, the Dragon.

There are other gangs across the state such as Hate Groups, Motorcycle Gangs, as well as Prison Gangs that are affecting our communities and families. Their “Signs” and “Colors” are ever changing.

Confirmed Gang Activity in Maryland

Gangs affect all Marylanders, no county nor region is immune. Statistics provided by the Maryland State Police and the Maryland Department of Juvenile Services indicate that specific gangs have existed in the past or currently exist in the defined Regions.
National and International Evidence-Based Programs

When a community decides to develop its own strategy, it is helpful to review national and international models. There are common threads among all of the evidence-based programs below. Studying what has worked is important when developing a new intervention/prevention program. There is no “one size fits all.” Research of several local programs such as Baltimore’s Operation Safe Streets, Get Out of the Game, and the Violence Prevention Program at University of Maryland’s Shock Trauma Center has revealed those common threads.

Chicago Ceasefire (Chicago, IL)
Multi-step collaboration of local agencies, community groups, and civic leaders to target reducing violence through an eight point plan.

PeaceBuilders (Long Beach, CA)
Created for young children, pre-teens and teens, PeaceBuilders addresses risk factors which predict violence, bullying and drug and tobacco use. Participation in PeaceBuilders reduces aggression, promotes language development, teaches social skills, increases parenting skills, creates inclusion for special needs children and fosters safer communities.

Local Programs

Operation Safe Streets
Operated by the Baltimore City Health Department, this program targets at-risk male and female youth, ages 14-25. Modeled after Chicago’s Ceasefire program, it is based on five core components: community coalition building, street outreach to at risk youth, public education, clergy involvement, and law enforcement collaboration.

Violence Prevention Program (VPP)
The VPP, located at the University of Maryland’s Shock Trauma Center, is designed to reduce the risk factors leading to violent and criminal activity. The fundamental goals of this program are: 1) to teach non-violent means of communication and conflict resolution; 2) to assist individuals with developing and reaching personal goals; 3) to offer new experiences that inspire positive thinking, creative expression, and plans for the future; 4) to make solid referrals that strengthen ongoing community support; 5) to give participants opportunities to practice new skills; and 6) to educate others about the dynamics of violence. VPP is an evidence-based program that has been operational for 10 yrs.
